

MythologyDecoded

MythologyDecoded is an unique talk show that decodes & unravels various coded messages, meanings, symbols, colours, concepts, & postures of Hindu Mythology. Hindu Mythology is a treasure trove of knowledge coded across various pictures, stories & art. When decoded these coded messages open up an all new vista of learning & understanding!

Have your ever pondered on the following...?

Why ?

- Snakes hold an important place.
- Gods have their right leg grounded or is it always right leg over the left.
- Vinayaga has an elephant head.
- Brahma is considered the creator, but Vishnu the protector creates Brahma.
- Vishnu, Siva, Krishna are blue complexioned.
- The concept behind Dasaavatharam.
- The Gods have many hands, many heads & faces, but just two legs.
- Lakshmi is in red sari, Parvathi in green & Saraswathi in white.

These aspects pose interesting questions to just not the ordinary mind but to people & professionals across age groups and backgrounds. This talk show is for one and all and it will open up innovative thinking and provide a true basis for associative learning. Teachers & students from schools & colleges, working professionals, business-persons, homemakers, & corporate executives & leaders who want to just learn or to take back & use these coded messages both at professional & personal spheres of life!!!
